

The Best Luxury Residential General Contractors in Miami

Miami is home to some of the world's most luxurious homes. It's a sanctuary for those who seek to live the tropical lifestyle. Residents are treated to Miami's beautiful sunsets, hip beaches, and high-end shopping locations. However, the city is also vulnerable to intense weather conditions, which exposes homes to potential damages. This is why homeowners should consider factors beyond aesthetic when building or remodeling their homes.

Miami's best residential general contractors understand the city's unique environment—from its weather to the context where homes are built. Luckily for the city's residents, we have developed this list of the top luxury residential general contractors in partnership with one of Florida's leading construction firms, Amicon. With an understanding of the best building practices for Miami homes, the firms on this list are capable of building sturdy and beautiful homes that prioritize every client's need and safety. These firms have been evaluated on their craftsmanship, customer service, reputation, and awards.

Marker Construction Group

226 SE 12th Ave., Fort Lauderdale, FL 33301

W. Grey Marker finished his Building Construction Management degree while simultaneously rising through the ranks of the construction industry. Since he founded Marker Construction Group in 2001, Grey Marker has been dedicated to doing business in a way that sets the company apart from other construction management and general contracting firms in South Florida. Since the firm's inception, Marker has specialized in a multitude of areas including both high-end residential construction and commercial projects. The firm is committed to delivering superior quality homes to its clients throughout South Florida and the company's "Build Better" philosophy goes further than just construction. It is instilled in the company's relationship with its employees, clients and the community. Thanks to its mission, the firm has won several awards from building and business organizations in Florida.

Marker builds classic Mediterranean-inspired homes, Georgian Colonials, Tudors, and contemporary estates. One of its notable projects is the Indian Creek Estate in Miami, which stands out for its beautiful Mediterranean-inspired exteriors and landscaping. The elegant home features a lounge space that offers an unobstructed view of Miami Beach. Additional luxury homes built by Marker Construction include the modern and chic Setai Penthouse in Miami Beach and a contemporary masterpiece on Fisher Island.
